JENNIE L. KENDALL, Notary Public.

My commission expires Feb. 11, 1911.

THE CAPTAINS OF INDUSTRY

"We have no antithesis here to that of intellect and industry. The proud title of our most successful millionaire is 'Captain of Industry.'"

"The great financial promoters, organizers, executives of America, are worthy of recognition and reward."

"The true captain of industry is the general of our industrial army."

"Honest, law-abiding organizations of capital are valuable not only to their own stockholders, but to the whole community."

"These sentences are taken from the Labor day address made by William Randolph Hearst at the Janesville exposition. Extraordinary indeed it is to find in Mr. Hearst a defender andologist of the 'captains of industry.'"

"A few years ago these captains of industry had no need for defenders and outcasts," says the Wall Street Journal. "The whole country was enthusiastic in their praise. They were the heroes of the industrial advance which the United States was making. We trusted them with our money and we loved them with battery."

"But suddenly a great change took place; the country dragged these captains of industry from their pedestals of fame into the muck of denunciation and ignominy. Legislatures and commissions and courts investigated them; they were subjected to searching cross-examination; their books were exposed to audit; their secrets were laid bare; their combinations were destroyed; the law was enforced against them; they were vilified with heavy fines and menaced with imprisonment in many cases; they were driven from their positions of power in great corporations; hundreds of the cleverest writers and artists in the country pursued them with articles and editorials and interviews and caricatures intended to expose them to scorn and attack on the plea that they had abused their trust. 'The term 'captain of industry' was no longer a proud title of supremacy; it became the term of reproach."

"Now comes—wonder of wonders—William Randolph Hearst with a speech in which the captain of industry is restored to his former pedestal. No other man in the country seemed more unlikely to undertake this commission, for Mr. Hearst has for years been the most radical of radicals, and he and his newspapers have persistently pursued the captains of industry with attacks and caricatures and prosecutions. The editors they made of Roosevelt and Hughes and others who have been dealing vigorously with the corporations have been that they did not go far enough in pursuing, exposing, fining and imprisoning the captains of industry."

"What are the reasons for this conversion? Is it a change of heart, or of pocket? Moreover, is it a prophecy of a coming change of position on the part of the people at large as soon as a contraction of business begins to reduce their profits, lower their wages and slow up the wheel of prosperity?"

"It was a good thing that the country produced great captains of industry. It was a good thing for the country that these captains of industry were made to understand that they were not superior to law and justice and square dealing, but merely trustees of the nation's capital. It is a good thing now that, after having taught the captains of industry this lesson, the country should begin again to recognize the value of courageous financial leadership."

It is a sad comment on the intelligence of the nation, when men who have been honored because of their great ability, become a by-word. Yet this is the condition which exists today.

This widespread prejudice is not confined to Rockefeller and Rogers, but falls like a blight upon corporations and corporate wealth of whatever nature. It is due to sensation and agitation on the part of a class of irresponsible speakers and writers, whose sole mission in life is to create trouble for a consideration.

There was a time when the office of walking delegate was filled by labor organizations, but these have changed, and today the country is flooded with a lot of self-appointed apostles whose principal mission is to regulate other people's business.

The chauntiqua give them a platform hearing, in the summer; the lecture bureau, in the winter; while the magazines are open to them the year around.

They pose as reformers, and through appeals to ignorance and prejudice enlist the sympathy of a large constituency. The captains of industry and acclition, have taken the place of the captains of industry and the nation suffers in consequence.

WAGES HERE AND THERE

The "World's Work" contains an article on Japan which includes this paragraph on wages:

"The American laborer averages $175 a year, or $1.60 per working day in wages. In Japan a carpenter earns per day 30 cents, a stone-cutter 33 cents, a jeweler 26 cents, a printer 19 cents, a farm laborer, 12 months on contract, $18.74. Female servants' monthly wages, in 1906, averaged 89¢ cents."

When the fact is considered that all incomes of $150 a year, or more, are literally taxed to support the government, the life of the wage-earner in Japan is not very enticing.

The Pennsylvania railroad has won a victory on the 2-cent fare law, which has been declared unconstitutional, in the lower court. The question will be carried to the supreme court at once, where the decision will be watched with interest. The claim sustained is that the law is confiscatory, and in violation of the constitution.

Automobile manufacturers are complaining because too much publicity is given to accidents. If there is anything that needs regulating in this country today it is the running of these high speed road engines. They are safe enough in the hands of skillful and careful men, but extremely dangerous as a plaything.

Dollar wheat, sixty-cent corn, and fifty-cent oats will help out some on a short crop and light weight. Fifteen cent cotton and tobacco will also furnish some consolation. The nation is a long way from the verge of bankruptcy, and will continue to live in spite of the calamity bellow.

The President's son-in-law, Congressman Longworth, is authority for the statement that under certain conditions the President may be a candidate to succeed himself. The conditions are a unanimous demand on the part of the people, and they are liable to be met.

The north pole continues to be a conundrum, in spite of the efforts of Walter Wellman. The shot is not worth the powder anyway. Who cares whether the pole is made of basswood or mahogany?

Nine county fairs are competing this week with the state fair. There ought to be an equal number of failures. If the state fair is worth anything to the state it ought to be encouraged by every county.

The island of Porto Rico has today 1050 day schools, all established during the past eight years. The United States has accomplished more in that short period than did Spain in four centuries.

Some one asks the pertinent question, "How much wealth must a man have anyhow, before he becomes a malefactor?" Not very much in these days of piping reform.

The next president will not come from Wisconsin, Illinois or New York, and his name won't be Bryan.

Kermitt Roosevelt Quest: Accompanying Marvin Huggitt, Jr., on a private shooting expedition into South Dakota, Kermitt Roosevelt, second son of the president, was for three days recently the guest of W. D. Cantillon, a former Janesville resident.

Host at Parish Hall: Douglas McKee, who is soon to leave Janesville to become a student at Wisconsin university, will entertain a company of young men and young women at Christ church parish hall this evening. Dancing will be the amusement of the evening.

F. R. A. Social Session: Last evening the regular meeting of F. R. A. was held at East Side Old Fellows' hall. After the general business was disposed of refreshments were served to the 25 members present and all seemed to enjoy the evening and expressed themselves as being glad they were present. A committee of three were appointed to plan and suggest things for the good of the order. This committee hopes that all members of the order be present at the next regular meeting Sept. 21.

HOWARD BAACK TO SPEND WINTER IN PATAGONIA

A Mining Camp in Northern Arizona, Looking After Copper Prospects.

Howard Baack, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Baack, departed this morning for Patagonia, Arizona, a mining camp located about 200 miles northwest of El Paso, Texas. His father spent a number of years in that locality and acquired considerable copper mining property, a portion of which he still retains. The younger Mr. Baack will spend the winter there looking after these interests.

PRESS COMMENT.

"Should Do His Destined Work." Milwaukee Sentinel: Says the Chicago News, "city, Hughes may say a great deal of good while 'Tad' is gathering the sea." True, but he will confine himself to the work he is contracted to work at when they elected him governor of New York.

Dull Days For Chicago Press. Rockford Register-Gazette: "The fact that a man named Bird has been appointed smoke inspector is seized upon by the Chicago papers as a fine thing for space filling. When the Cubs and Sox are having a day off the Chicago press is mighty hard up."

Three Greatest Living Writers. Musical Leader and Concert-Giver: "Robert Hubbard is one of the three greatest living writers." Such is the declaration of Joe Mitchell, Chicago editor of the National magazine. Editor Mitchell does not say so, but the impression is prevalent that his two other "greatest living writers" are Tolson, Powder Mennen and Joe Mitchell Chapple.

The Real's Mere Detail. Waupaca Post: "The story has leaked out from Milwaukee that McGovern, who booted the Republican ticket last fall and was elected district attorney, is to run for mayor of Milwaukee next spring and for governor next fall. Whether he will be a candidate for president in 1912 or not has not yet been decided."

Tammanyite Is Exonerated.

Milwaukee News: If Richard Croker returns to the United States and undertakes to exercise the right of suffrage, it will be in order for some energetic Republicans to step up and challenge the great Tammanyite. Under the provisions of a law passed by the last congress, when a foreign born citizen returns to his native land and remains there two years he loses his citizenship here and becomes an alien.

Simple Applied Science

Edmund Independent: And now a London surgeon says that appendicitis is caused by eating steel rolled flour. It is the London doctor's theory that bits of steel get into the flour we Americans use and thence into our appendices. If this is so there seems to be a chance for Edith to rid herself of an unwelcome source of much fun. Husbands should swallow a magnet attached to a string.

Scheme to Get Rid of Hughes

Wall Street Journal: The New York World has performed a public service by calling attention to the fact that ex-Governor Odell and other representatives of the republican machine in the state of New York are booming Governor Hughes for president, and it exposes the nature and motive of their support. Governor Hughes has rendered himself obnoxious to the organization as Governor Roosevelt did. The organization in order to get rid of Roosevelt as governor made him vice president. "The organization in order to get rid of Hughes as governor is willing even that he should be nominated for president."

Rate Commission Commended

Evening Wisconsin: The fact that the Wisconsin railroad state commission, on its own motion, called for an explanation from the railroads immediately following an advance of the minimum rate on freight of a cent a ton class from 25 to 40 cents furnished general protest and gave force to evidence of the fact that the railroad rate body at Madison is wide awake. Shippers throughout the state ought to feel that their interests are in good hands.

Usually the Case

East Clinton Leader: The difference between a cute trick and an ugly habit is whether your child or somebody else's does it.

And He's Ample Able To Pay.

Machine Journal: The preliminary advertising of Mayor Becker of Milwaukee for governor is not costing anything for space rates. The press over was a willing victim.

Croker Says He Must.

Milwaukee News: Richard Croker has paused long enough between wages on the horse racing over in Ireland to announce that William Jennings Bryan must run again.

A Celebration Deferred.

Oshkosh Northwestern: Owing to unpropitious weather conditions, the observance of Wellman day at the north pole has been postponed till 1908 or some suitably subsequent time.

King Edward the (Recent) Good

Chicago Herald: (Herald: King Edward was terribly shocked at some of the slanders that he heard when he recently visited a music hall. Edward has become one of the world's nicest and most lovable old gentlemen.

Quite A Feat.

Antioch Journal: To steal five miles of copper wire between Milwaukee and Colmarburg was a feat performed by robbers Tuesday night. That is getting it down finer than the clothes line thief.

Must Draw Curtain Somewhere.

St. Louis Globe-Democrat: Mr. Bryan lectures, calls a newspaper, makes speeches, is easily intimidated and takes pleasure in conversation. The conjecture that he talks in his sleep is nobody's business.

Making It Easy For Prison-Birds.

Machine Journal: When a criminal is sentenced in these days, say for ten years, no living man can even guess just how long he will remain in prison. Between the pardon, the parole and good behaviour allowance, it's unknowable.

Blights of Science

Collier's Weekly: Somebody malicious rises to inquire whether real really excites bulls. Essentially this is a subtle move to disprove the sun-drenched and silicon fabric of beliefs. Are we to forfeit all our creeds to the microscope and the measuring rod? Thus the load no warty powers, the rainbow no golden terminal? Shall the auditory devil's dardine needle be shown of his darling terror? Is there no bane in shying that little monster, the cricket, and no virtue in the left line for of the century, haunting Gabriel Grab of rabbitdom? Science has mowed us all, but there are twilight times when the mind, swinging dreamily backward, owns again the sway of Hans Christian Andersen and the misnamed Brothers Grimm. Grow old we may and must, but that part of us which throws the spilled salt over our left shoulder, and firmly declines to walk under a ladder if there be any way around, clings happily to youth. There be many of us, who, with the gray encroaching upon our temples, can still disdain pitiless exactitude of the pendulum and "Have sight of Proteus rising from the sea. Or hear old Triton blow his wreathed horn."

EVANSVILLE

Evansville, Sept. 11.—The Baker Manufacturing Co. have recently placed over their shops two mammoth signs which are without doubt the largest and most unique signs ever put up in Evansville. They are made entirely of steel. The frames are 97 feet long and 6 feet high and are manufactured of angle steel; the letters are 4 feet high and made of sheet steel. One reads: "Baker Manufacturing Co.," the other: "Baker Mfg. Co. Monitor Windmills and Enginework."

Burton Hollister entertained about twenty-four of his friends last evening at the home of his aunt, Mrs. J. M. Evans. The event was given for his guest, Walter Richardson of St. Paul, who leaves tonight for his home. Mr. Hollister and his mother, Mrs. John Hollister, will leave next Monday for a week's visit in Chicago. At the end of that time Mr. Hollister will return to his duties at Yale and Mrs. Hollister to her Evansville home.

Last Saturday evening Mrs. Allen Baker entertained a number of guests at tea in honor of Mrs. L. E. Graves, who is soon to go to Colorado for an extended visit with her son, Monday afternoon she was given a surprise by the ladies of the Congregational Missionary society of which she is a member. The gathering was held in the church parlors and supper was served to thirty-five or forty guests. The society presented her with a solid silver spoon and some other gifts which are highly prized by the recipient.

On Monday afternoon Mrs. Clyde Coulter gave a miscellaneous show for Mr. and Mrs. George Wiggins. The bride was showered with many useful and pretty gifts.

M. L. Paulson has purchased of Howard Thomas of Blanchardville the house and lot on Second street known as the Hunt house and expects to occupy it the first of October.

Six Reasons Why You Should Choose Dr. Richards for Your Dentistry.

- 1st. He studies every move so that he will not cause you pain.
- 2nd. The quality of his work is not excelled by any other Dentist in this city.
- 3rd. He refuses to join any combines which raise prices.
- 4th. He only charges $5.00 for the identical same gold crown for which others charge you $10.00.
- 5th. Because you know the cost of living has gone up tremendously, it is going to take very much more money this fall to fit out the family than it did last year.
- 6th. Then why, under the sun, pay twice as much for exactly the same thing, when by choosing Dr. Richards to do your work you can get your Dentistry done right and still keep about half your money in your pants pocket?

$77.75 A MONTH IN ONLY NINE MONTHS' TIME

We said yesterday we could beat sixty dollars a month. Therefore it's up to us to make good.

That's our strongest point. We can always make good. Read the following letter from one of our graduates who tells us he is getting $77.75 a month in only nine months from the day he joined our school. He has a brother working for the same road who is doing even better.

COLDER THAN USUAL BUT NO FROST YET

Average Temperature Last Week Was Three Below Normal—Needed Rain Came.

Following is the Wisconsin climatological report for the week ending Monday, September 9, issued by the Weather Bureau of the United States Agricultural Department:

The weather during the week ending September 9th continued generally cool and partly cloudy or cloudy. The temperature fell nearly to the freezing point on several mornings in the northern part of the state, but no report of the formation of frost has been received at the Section Center. The precipitation was fairly well distributed over the state and was most abundant in the northern section, where it was badly needed, while the fall was generally light in the southern section, where the heavy showers occurred in the preceding week.

The temperatures were comparatively low during the entire week, and the changes from day to day were unusually small. The maximum temperatures ranged from 65 degrees to 75 degrees and the minimum temperatures from 33 degrees to 50 degrees. The lowest temperatures occurred in the interior of the northern section on the mornings of the 5th, 6th and 9th. Only at a few places did the temperatures go below 45 degrees in the southern half of the state. The mean for the week averaged 53 degrees below the normal.

The rainfall occurred mostly as scattered showers on the 4th, 5th, 7th and 8th. There were showers also on the 5th and 6th in the middle section, a heavy thunderstorm occurring at Fond du Lac on the 5th. The total for the week was largest in the north and east-central portions and least along the southern and west-central borders.

A Massachusetts court holds that a certificate of deposit is designed to circulate as money like bills of the bank and to be used for convenience and safety. That is all we claim for them and the court decision clinches the matter.

They are the only form of money that draws interest from date and like any other form they are redeemable on demand. Like money in your pocket the bank can not be garnished, for whoever they may have been issued to the bank has no means of knowing to whom they may at present belong. They are convenient because of their easy negotiability and safe because they must be properly endorsed before we will pay them.

ORIENTALS FAIL TO START BIG STRIKE

HINDUS REFUSE TO JOIN WITH JAPANESE AND CHINESE.

POLICE CAPTURE RIFLES

Vancouver Rioting Not Renewed—Tokio Hears Canada Will Make Amends—Damages the Korean League.

Vancouver, B. C., Sept. 11.—A combined Chinese and Japanese organization of Vancouver has made overtures to the Hindus to join them in an industrial strike all along the British Columbia coast. The Hindus refused. Late Monday night the police made a seizure of 50 Winchester rifles, together with thousands of rounds of ammunition, which had been purchased in New Westminster by Chinese. The shipment was consigned to Sam Kee, a wealthy Chinese merchant of Vancouver and a large property owner, whose buildings were damaged by Saturday night's mob.

Rioting Not Renewed. Everything was quiet Tuesday in and about the oriental quarter and there has been no further attempt to renew the anti-Asian rioting. None of the Japanese have yet returned to their work in the lumber mills, which are closed down. The strike of the Chinese cooks bids fair to last longer and restaurants are closed. Hotels, clubs and private families are making shift without cooks and Vancouver people are receiving an object lesson in their dependence on Chinese domestics.

Japanese Consul Excited. K. Morikawa, Japanese consul, in great excitement went to Mayor Bethune Tuesday morning and demanded that he have the militia called out to protect his countrymen. He said an attempt was being made to burn every Japanese house in Vancouver, and that cotton waste saturated with oil had been found under the door of the Japanese Methodist mission church.

Mayor Bethune tried to reassure the consul, telling him that the authorities had the situation well in hand. Finally, to please the consul, the mayor agreed to telegraph Col. Holmes, commanding the militia of this district, asking that the militia be ordered to hold themselves in readiness.

The body of a Chinese was found hanging to a tree in a suburban garden. It is being reported that the Chinese was hanged by his countrymen for refusing to quit work. The police pronounce it a case of suicide.

Canada to Make Amends.

Tokio, Sept. 11.—The foreign office has received a dispatch from the Japanese consul general at Ottawa saying that the Canadian government will express its regret for the occurrence at Vancouver and take steps to prevent further trouble. An official of the foreign office said: "We have the utmost confidence in the Canadian government, as we also have in that of America. Commissioner Ishii's dispatch says that the disturbance will soon be quelled, and that there is no reason to expect its repetition."

"Our information is that this outbreak, like that at Bellingham and others, is the result of the Korean League's anti-Japanese agitation, created by false and exaggerated reports of conditions in Korea and the attitude and sentiment in Japan."

England Must Be Cautious. Washington, Sept. 11.—Not a word has been heard from any official source at the state department relative to the attack upon the Sikhs at Gollingham, Wash., last week. It is believed that the British government through its consular agent at Seattle is making an investigation of the affair.

It is surmised that in this case the British government will find it politic to move very cautiously in making representations to America, because those representations might readily be adopted by the Japanese government as the basis for similar demands upon the British government in connection with the attacks upon Japanese in Vancouver.

OLDEST CITY EDITOR QUILTS.

J. N. Hazlett of the Pittsburg Leader Has Retired.

Pittsburg, Sept. 11.—John N. Hazlett, city editor of the Pittsburg Leader for the past 40 years, has resigned from the position and retired from active newspaper work.

"The chief," as Mr. Hazlett is widely known, is said to be the oldest living city editor in America in continuous service. Probably to him, more than to any other one man, was due the early exploitation of Ira D. Bankoy, the singer, who was later to achieve fame on two continents in connection with Evangelist Moody, and the late Francis Murphy, temperance advocate. Mr. Hazlett's retirement was not on account of ill health, but to preserve the good health and vitality with which he was gifted.

Lieut. Sheridan Sent to New Mexico.

Washington, Sept. 11.—By an order issued from the war department Tuesday Second Lieut. Phil H. Sheridan, who for the past two years has been one of the military aides to the president at the White House, is directed to join troop D, Fifth cavalry, at Fort Huachuca, N. M.

Raising Its Rates.

Milwaukee Free Press: The Bell Telephone company is advancing its rates where it can, in order, as it claims, to be able to pay reasonable profits on its "investments." The "investments" are believed by the suspicious portion of the public to include great and fictitious values of "patents" long since expired.

PEOPLE HOARDING MONEY

WEST NOT SEEKING INVESTMENTS, SAYS MR. HARRIMAN.

More Prosperous Than Ever Before But Due to Experience—Contraction in Business.

New York, Sept. 11.—E. H. Harriman, who recently returned from an extensive trip through the west, said Tuesday that the west is more prosperous than ever before, that there are no signs of panic there, but that the people of that section are not now seeking investments. He added: "In spots the crops will not be as good as last year but the west will have fair crops. Our lines appeared to be well favored. Crops are excellent all along the lines of the Union Pacific."

"Country banks and individuals in the west have plenty of money but they are holding on to it and are not seeking investment. There is no question in my mind that a great deal of money is tied up in this way, but these people who are hanging on to their money now, later will be seeking investments."

"I found the attitude of the people with money one of uncertainty. There is more money in the country than we believe, but it is being withheld from free circulation because of some apparent fear or apprehension. I think securities have gone very much below what they should have gone under any circumstances."

Although he had seen no marked signs of business depression in the west, Mr. Harriman said that contraction in practically all lines was sure to come. The lack of money to carry out big enterprises is alone sufficient, he said, to bring about this contraction.

"SMUGGLED" CLOTHES SEIZED.

Three Chicago Women Have Trouble at Port Huron.

Port Huron, Mich., Sept. 11.—Information has leaked out of a $4,000 seizure of alleged smuggled linen, silk, waists and dresses had velvet coats, which the local customs house officers say will be sold at auction, but for the saving of which three handsomely dressed and cultured women who live in Chicago as their address are making strenuous efforts.

The women, who are registered at a hotel here as Mrs. A. L. Olson, Mrs. L. L. Ropp and Mrs. Sallie Stierel, declare that the goods have all been worn and were purchased during a year's stay abroad, but the customs officers claim that the goods are new and assert that the three women offered to pay full duty on them as soon as their five large trunks were seized on a westbound Grand Trunk train Sunday.

VOLCANO IN THE ALEUTIANS.

Violent Eruption Reported by Officer of Revenue Cutter Rush.

Seattle, Sept. 11.—Advice received here from an officer of the revenue cutter Rush, lying at Dutch Harbor and dated September 4, says that on Sept. 1 and 2, a volcano in the Aleutian Islands broke forth, sending tons of ashes and cinders over a score or more of native villages, frightening the native Aleutians as well as the whites, out of their wits and covering the decks of the cutter Rush with ashes. A hurricane accompanied the phenomenon and wild fowl of all kinds were driven far to sea. No lives were reported lost. The eruption occurred in the vicinity of the volcano island Perry, which sprang up from the sea a short time after the San Francisco earthquake.

ROADS WILL IGNORE KANSAS FARE ORDER

DECIDE NOT TO PUT IN EFFECT TWO-CENT PASSENGER RATE.

GOV. HOCH IS AROUSED

Will Use All Authority to Enforce Obedience—Pennsylvania's Low Fare Law Is Vain.

Chicago, Sept. 11.—Officials of railroads operating in Kansas held a meeting in Chicago Tuesday and decided to ignore the state railroad commission's order that a flat two-cent passenger fare be put into effect October 5. They based their stand on the fact that, during the session of the last legislature, they offered important concessions in return for which a two-cent fare was not to be passed.

The officials of roads claim that they have kept their promises. The law, it is true, was not passed, but the state commission's order amounted to the same thing.

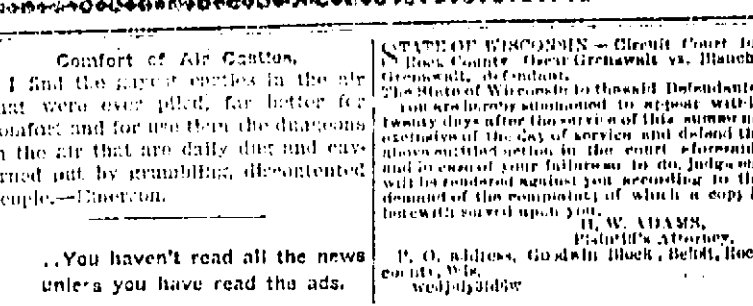

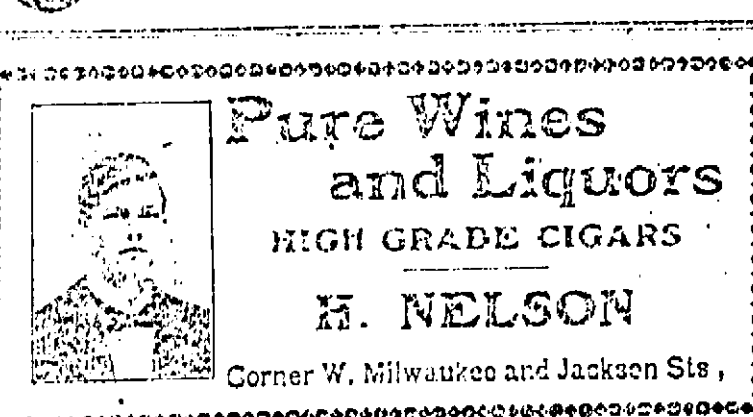

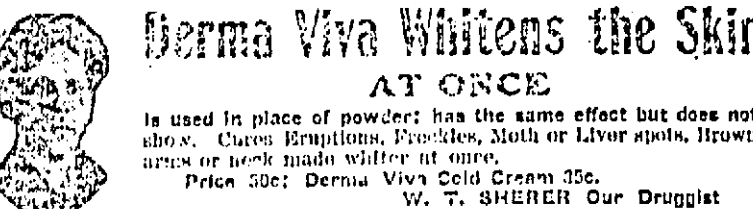

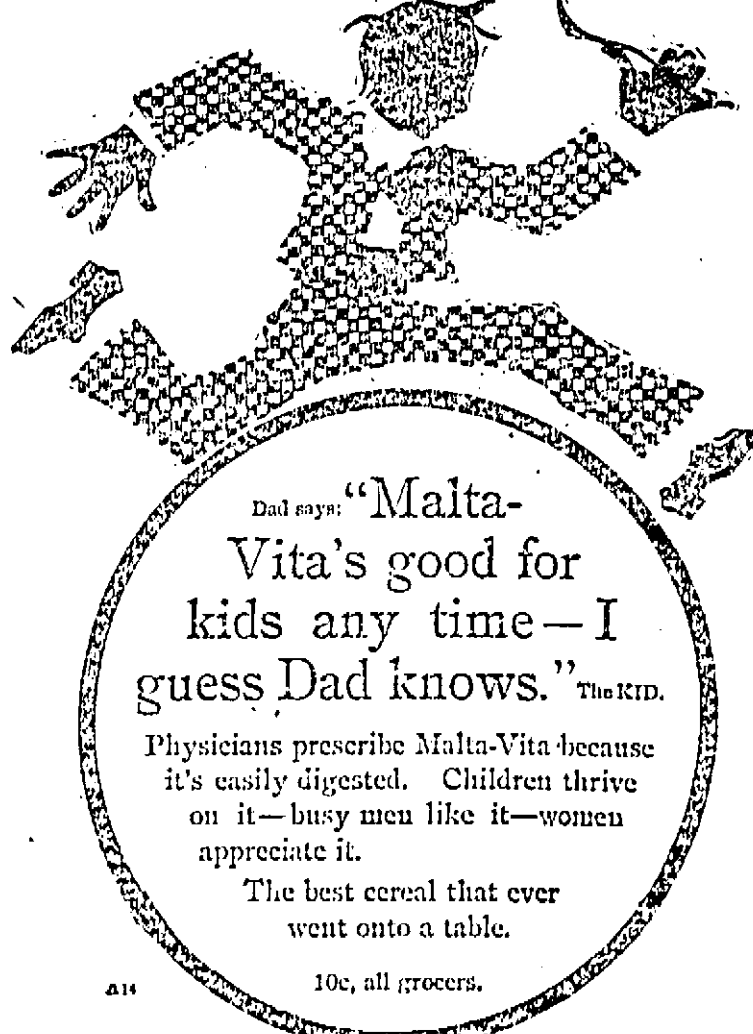

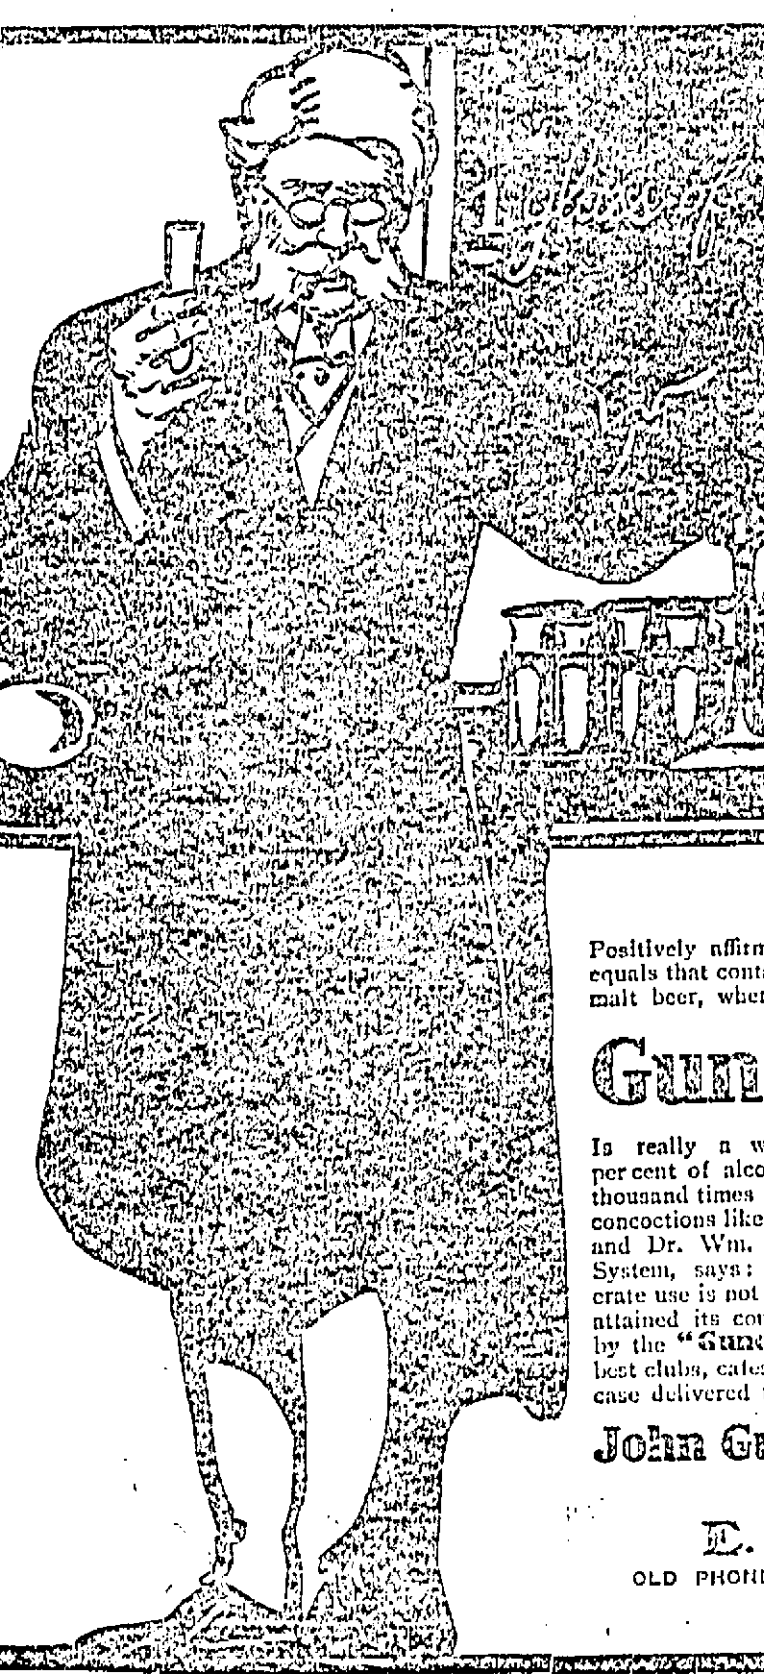

It is feared by the officials of the roads that the worst that can happen to them for disobeying the commission's ruling is to have the legislature at some future time pass a two-cent law. Therefore they have nothing to lose and much to gain.

Hoch Will Enforce Order.

Topeka, Kan., Sept. 11.—Gov. Hoch stated, on being informed of the action of the railroads in Chicago in deciding to ignore the Kansas two-cent fare order, that he would go to the limit of his executive power to enforce the order. He would not say flatly whether or not he would call a special session of the legislature.

S.S.S. KILLS THE GERMS OF SCROFULA

Through the blood, diseases are carried from one generation to another. Parents transmit them to their children, and so it goes on down the family line for years and years unless the taint is removed from the blood. Especially is this true of Scrofula, for it is a disease that is "bred in the bone," and unless the blood is purified and every trace of the trouble removed the miserable disease will finally undermine the entire health and wreck the life of its victim. The usual symptoms of Scrofula are enlarged glands or tumors about the neck, which often burst and become discharging ulcers, weak eyes, catarrh of the head and throat, skin diseases, etc. The trouble being so firmly entrenched in the blood often attacks the bones, resulting in White Swelling, or hip disease, while a waxy, pallid appearance of the skin, loss of strength and energy, and often lung affections, show that the disease is entirely destroying the bright red corpuscles and rich, nutritive qualities of the blood. Scrofula being a constitutional disease, one affecting the entire circulation, must be treated with a remedy that builds up and strengthens every part of the system, which has so long been denied the strength and nourishment it should have received from the blood. S. S. S. is the best of all blood purifiers and the greatest of all tonics, and is therefore the ideal remedy for Scrofula. S. S. S. searches out and destroys all germs, taints and poisons, gives strength, richness and vigor to the blood and cures Scrofula permanently. It so thoroughly removes the trouble from the blood that no signs of it are ever seen again, and posterity is started out in life with a clean, pure blood supply, which is their rightful inheritance. S. S. S. while thoroughly gentle in its action, and the healing vegetable ingredients which compose it build up every part of the system. Book on the blood and medical advice free. CHAPTER XXIII.

ON BOARD THE KRAVAT AGAIN.

"THE battle is on," said O'Neill, in the small boat, to Elizabeth, both, and I am not there, O God, give us a little breeze," he cried. In anticipation he swung the oars inland, stepped the mast once more, letting the sail hang, and then resumed his place by her side.

"God is good to me," she said at last. "He will not let you be there to be killed. You have had trouble enough and have run enough risks. He wishes to keep you for me."

"No shock his head."

"My place is there. My duty is on your deck. Would that I had returned to the ship without going up to the castle?"

"Why, then," she said reproachfully, "you would not have seen me?"

"I know," he replied, "but then I would be in my rightful place, fighting where I should be. Coventry would be honored in doing his duty. The admiral would be happy. Your marriage would take place."

"And you," she cried, womanlike, placing him in the balance as opposed to all the rest, "would you have been happy?"

"Happiness has nothing to do with that," he answered impatiently. "It is a question of duty. I have been a fool."

"Has the fool been rewarded in accordance with his folly?" she asked him. "Say, look at me before you reply," she cried imperiously, turning her head until his eyes looked into her own. In the face of that girl, in the dim light of her magic glance, in that mystic night, there was but one answer to be made.

"I say no more," he replied, kissing her softly. "You are right. I have you. You are worth it all. I will try to be a philosopher about all the rest."

Meanwhile the intermittent reports had been succeeded by a steady roar of artillery which reverberated and rolled along the surface of the water. The Seraph, some distance from the Kraivat, and the Richard, to the northwest, were apparently hotly engaged with the Pallas, while the Alliance seemed to be sailing back and forth between the two groups of combatants, pouring in a random fire upon friend and foe alike. Great clouds of smoke, punctured by vivid flashes of light, overhung the ships.

The feelings of the young officer could be imagined. Adrift in that little boat, watching the awful combat, not even the presence of the woman he loved could compensate him for his absence. In spite of his attempted philosophy, the fever of the conflict possessed him. His breath came quick. He prayed as never before for a breeze to take him to the fight. He murmured incoherent words which told to the tender listener something of the terrible struggle which raged within his bosom. So the long hours were wavy.

Toward 11 o'clock they heard a terrific explosion, and then the roar of the battle slackened and finally died away. When the smoke drifted off the two ships were lying side by side. Further off, almost half down, were the Seraph and the Pallas, which had ceased their fight some time before. The battle was over. Who had won?

But it was late, and the breeze no longer wished for now springing up once more, and the little boat gathered way and began to slip through the water again. The sky had become overcast. It grew very dark. The wind freshened steadily and finally blew so strong that it required all the skill and address of which O'Neill was possessed to keep his untidy little craft from capsizing. Finally he was forced to drop the sail and take to the oars to keep afloat at all. About 2 o'clock in the morning a squall of rain came down, and they lost sight of the ships. Toward morning the wind moderated again, and they were enabled to set sail once more. But the ocean was covered with a dense mist. They were in the thick of it and could see nothing. As nearly as he could judge without the aid of a compass O'Neill headed the boat toward the place where they had last made out the two ships.

"We ought to pick them up in a few moments now," he said to the crew, "frightened, exhausted, and almost blind, he groped down in her wet, sodden garments, which clung to her shivering figure. The night had been too much for her. Her physical strength had almost given way, though nothing could abate the affection he saw shining still in her tired eyes. "Therefore in a few moments we shall know our fate."

"How is that?" she said, raising herself a little.

"If Commodore Jones has been captured," he answered, "I have but to give myself up and redeem Coventry, and you know the rest."

"Yes," she replied wearily and listlessly. "Let it come. We have fought a good fight, and you and I, we can do no more. And the other alternative?"

"Why, in that case," he said, "we shall be there under our own flag. He, too, will be saved, and the rest of our troubles are over."

"What think you of the prospect?" she asked, brightening a little.

"It is difficult to say. The Seraph and the Richard should easily be more than a match for our whole squadron. The Richard is almost worthless as a fighting ship, as I said. Landais, who commands the Alliance, is insane. I can't prophesy what Coventry will do with the Pallas. We have but one advantage—John Paul Jones himself! He alone is worth a thousand."

The light from the rising sun, nestled by the fitful wind, began to dispel the mists of the morning.

"See!" cried the girl, pointing. "There, right ahead of us! Are not those the sails of a ship? What ship?"

Wraithlike, as she pointed at a rift in the mist, and wreathed in clouds of vapor, there appeared for a second the light canvas of a great ship. Following her outstretched finger he caught a fleeting glimpse of it, but saw nothing to reassure him as to the result of the battle. The slight streak toward his heart. Such canvas as that was never so above the decks of the Richard. As he looked the mist closed round them again. The ship had vanished.

"Ah, it's gone, but I am certain I saw it. Which was it?" she continued, hastily rousing herself in the prospect of decision. "Is a ship, is it not? But which one?"

"The mist is thickening again. 'Twill clear away in a moment," he answered evasively. "We shall see more distinctly then. She was making toward us, I think. He could not bear to dash her hopes with the assurance that it was not the Richard, though he had resigned himself to death in consequence of his glimpse at once. It was useless to try to fly. The mist was rising in every direction, and before they could have gone a hundred yards they would be visible to the ship in front of them, now showing her huge bulk through the thinning clouds of vapor which surrounded her. The next moment it rolled away. The sunlight flooded the heavens in transformation. The breeze tossed the sea into a thousand white-capped waves. It was nothing. Some one on the ship saw the little boat with its two occupants at once. An officer leaped to the rail. "Boat ahoy!" rang out over the water. The great white frigate, deep sunken, as if deeply laden, was moving sluggishly through the water and was almost upon them.

"The ship!" screamed the girl wildly.

"It is the Seraph," answered O'Neill in a hollow voice.

"Ah," she said, sinking back exhausted. "After all, it is over. I shall never survive you."

"Boat ahoy, there!" again cried the officer, standing on the rail, pistol in hand. "Answer my hail or I fire! Who are you?"

"I am your prisoner, escaped last night from that ship!" cried O'Neill. "I wish to deliver myself up!"

"Come alongside, then," said the officer, turning inboard and giving a sharp command. The way of the ship was checked; she was thrown up into the wind, and as her broadside slowly swung opposite, O'Neill saw that her mainmast was gone and that she was rightfully cut up and bare evidence of having participated in a tremendous action. Away off to the northeast a little cluster of ships was seen on the horizon, too far off to distinguish them. There was no sign of the Richard that he could see. In a few seconds the boat was brought alongside the gangway. Elizabeth clambered up the ladder with his assistance, and they stepped up on the deck. A frightful scene presented itself.

Upon one side, a ship, dead men, half mangled, covered with congealed blood, were literally piled up in a great heap. The deck itself was covered with men, most of them wounded in some way, were distributed about the ship and striving to effect some restoration to order. Guns here and there were dismantled; ropes cut in every direction were lying entangled in wild confusion about the life masts and masts. The broken masts thrust their jagged ends a few feet into the air above the deck. The rest of it was gone. Shrapnel everywhere was shattered, and great rifts appeared in the decking canvas. The rail and bulwarks were broken and smashed on every side. There was not a single bolt left swinging at the davits. Splintered woodwork showed where numberless shots had taken effect, and charred stumps of timber on every hand added heart-breaking evidence of conflagration's devastating touch. From the depths beneath the deck came low groans and murmurs of pain, accentuated by the sharp shriek of some deeper sufferer or the delicious raving of some fevered patient. Elizabeth shrank back appalled.

"How horrible!" she murmured. "Take me away. I cannot stand it!" He caught her in his arms. A little more and she would have fainted.

"Good heavens!" he said, "in all my battles I never saw such a ship! What a frightful scene! They didn't get off without a fight," he added slowly. An officer, with head bound up in a handkerchief and his arm in a sling, was approaching them.

"Sir," said O'Neill, saluting the while, "I am the officer who escaped last night. I deliver myself up to you, sir, I'm Stacey," he cried in great surprise, recognizing a brother officer of the Richard. "What do you here, man?"

"Here, god, it's O'Neill!" cried the other. "Glad are we to see you, man. But this lady—this is no place for her."

"She goes with me," said O'Neill briefly. "But you?"

"This is where I belong."

"And they have captured you, I suppose?"

"No; the ship is ours."

"And the old Richard?" cried O'Neill.

"Abandoned and sunk after the surrender," answered the young officer. "She was cut to pieces by the Seraph's fire, but we have this ship."

"Thank God!" answered O'Neill fervently. "And Captain Jones?"

"Aft there on the quarter deck."

"Come, Elizabeth!" he cried, seizing her by the arm, and, he assisting her, they made their way with difficulty in the confusion to the quarter deck.

"Ah, O'Neill, thank God I see you alive again!" said Jones, springing forward, his face beaming. "We got there in time, then, I see."

"Yes, sir, thanks to this lady," answered O'Neill, pointing to Elizabeth. "Madam, you are fit for a soldier's bride," said the little captain.

"Is high praise, sir, from Captain Jones, I protest," she answered, rallying herself in the relief of assured safety.

"Would God that I had been with you in this battle!" cried O'Neill gloomily.

"We missed you. I wished often for you," answered the captain. "The poor old Richard was torn to pieces under our feet. We could not stay on her longer, so we had to leave her."

"And I not there! I suppose that I have forfeited everything forever for going up to the castle. Shall you break me, sir?"

"Nothing, nothing shall be done, my poor boy," answered the captain kindly. "You have been punished enough by not having been with us in the greatest battle ever fought on the sea. But it seems to me you have not entirely lost the game. You, too, have a prize in tow. How go your love affairs?" he whispered.

"Well, indeed, sir. The Lady Elizabeth is here, as you see. We are to be married at once, sir."

"You may have the chaplain of the Seraph for that purpose."

NEW SCULLING CHAMPIONS.

Rapid Rise in the Aquatic World of Bennett and Warnock.

By winning the national championship in the single sculls Harry S. Bennett of Springfield, Mass., becomes one of the foremost figures in the aquatic world. Bennett's rise has been due to continual practice, thorough self-training and an abundance of Yankee pluck.

The American champion is only twenty-one years old and weighs about 150 pounds. Outside of advice received from friendly rivermen along the Connecticut Bennett has never had a coach. By observation and practice he has developed form which makes him a splendid type of the sculler.

Next year Bennett will be sent to England. He will take part in the Olympic regatta. The Henley stow-away will have a splendid chance to study the young New Englander. Admirers of Champion Bennett plan to have him enter the Henley regatta and try for the Diamond sculls in 1909.

Bennett is a bookkeeper. While in Springfield High school a few years ago he was not considered strong enough for the eight oared crew. With a battered shell of ancient type he began practicing in the singles. His advancement to the championship is a suggestion of what may be accomplished by persistence and careful training.

Alexander Warnock, who won in the intermediate singles, is another Springfield Boat club sculler of note. Warnock is a slight but strong youth, about five feet ten inches tall and in condition weighing 132 pounds. He began rowing about the same time Bennett first became interested in the sport, and the two have trained together for the past three years. Warnock won his novice race two years ago at Boston, beating Cummings of Worcester and Ryan of Boston. Last year at Worcester he was up against Henderson of Winnipeg in the intermediate singles, and the latter won out. Warnock gave him a close race, and had he rowed in a shell more suited to his weight he might have done even better.

The shell he used was originally built for a sculler, a man much heavier than Warnock, and it is certain that his speed was somewhat retarded. Last spring he bought a new shell, in which he has been practicing since early in May. Warnock, like Bennett, is always in condition, being temperate in his habits. He has never been coached in rowing, but picked up the fine points of the sport himself. He has the natural, steady stroke of a good oarsman and by constant practice has developed considerable form.

Lajolo Gets Pitcher Graney.
President Lynch of the Wilkes-Barre team of the New York State league recently granted an option on Pitcher Graney to Napoleon Lajolo of the Cleveland club. Graney is believed to be one of the finds of the season. He is a youngster, a left hander, and so far he has pitched thirteen victories and been beaten only four times. At the same time he has batted at over 400. He is believed by good judges to be a more valuable man than either Pitcher Swift, who was sold to Pittsburgh, or Second Baseman Zimmerman, who was bought by the Chicago Americans for $2,000.

NOT LIKE ANY SHE HAD SEEN.

Why Chicken Seemed Peculiar to Small City Girl.

Little Isabel had been so unfortunate as to have lived most of her six years in boarding houses. Now, the boarding house chicken, as every one knows who has had any experience with that curious fowl, seems largely composed of wings and legs. It generally fell to Isabel's lot to draw a leg. Consequently it was with great surprise that on her first visit to the country she contemplated a real live chicken on its native heath. She had been told that it was a chicken, but who had her doubts until reassured by her mother. Even then she was not quite satisfied. Mystified, as though grappling with some problem beyond her power to reason out, she exclaimed: "But, see, mamma, it only has two legs."

Mother's Cruelty to Child.

A strange story of cruelty comes from Home Ridge, near Penfield, Pa., where Mrs. Hurlfelder is charged with having suspended her six-year-old child in mid-air, permitting her to hang for three hours. The child did something that displeased the mother, and, seizing the little one, it is alleged, she tied her hands behind her and then fastened a strap about the child's waist. The little offender was dragged to the barn, where a rope was attached to the belt, thrown over a beam and the child pulled up in the air. This was shortly after supper, and it is said she permitted the child to swing around and around in that painful position until her husband came home at ten o'clock and cut down the child.

Hundreds of Good Irish Here.

"Pat" was a little "bellie," and was boasting one day in a saloon about his ancestors and his native country, and was remarking that he was Irish and that he was proud of the fact, when a man entered, and, hearing the remark, said: "You are all right, old man. I like the Irish, and, up where I live there are hundreds of them, and I wish there were hundreds more there." This pleased "Pat" to such an extent that he spent considerable money on his newly found friend, and after his departure "Pat" inquired of the barkeeper where he lived, remarking that he was a "dum like man, anyway." "That man," replied the barkeeper, "he lives up near the Catholic cemetery."—Judge's Library.

Football in 1583.

The gentle game of football is described thus in a work entitled "Annals of Abuses," published in 1583: "For I protest unto you it may rather be called a friendly kind of fight than a play of recreation, a bloody and murdering practice than a sport or pastime, for dooth not every one lye in wait for his adversaries, seeking to overthrow him and to pick him on his nose, though it be on hard stones, so that by this means sometimes their backs, sometimes their legs, sometimes their arms, sometimes one part thrust out of joint, sometimes another; sometimes the noses gash out with blood; sometimes their eyes start out."

Awful Blunder.

"Yes," remarked Amber Pete, as he took another chew, "he left town rather suddenly." "What was the cause of the sudden departure?" asked the agent for the ore crusher. "Well, you see, he received an announcement from old Pete Blunk that the latter had married old Pete Blunk's fighting widder. An hour later he sent a message in reply. "And was that the way he left town?" "You bet. He scribbled off, 'Accept my congratulations in the hour of glory,' but the chap in the telegraph office was half asleep and he deciphered it to be, 'Accept my condolence in the hour of grief.' Don't you think it was time to make tracks, stranger?"

The Genius of Love.

Durable love is a sublime drama played by two actors equal in talents, a drama where the sentiments are catastrophes, where desires are events and where the lightest thought causes a change of scene. But how will you find in the flock of bipeds which is called a nation, a man and a woman possessing in the same degree the genius of love, when talented people are already so rare in other sciences?—Honore de Balzac.

THE VALUE OF APPRECIATION.

Few Realize the Worth of Appropriate Words of Praise.

Has it ever struck you what a sweetener of life lies in a few words of appreciation and encouragement? How few of us take the trouble to stop a few minutes and praise a servant for work well done, or even pause to tell our nearest and dearest how we appreciate all the daily services which we have apparently never noticed. When our friends do us a kindness to send beautiful flowers as a last appreciation of our love for them, but would it not be better if we had helped them by a little praise when they were working, or if we had cheered them in the dark days when they were troubled and suffering? Only a few words of appreciation! The cost is nothing, but the recompense is beyond price. Let the husband tell his wife how much he prizes her love for him, and the wife tell her husband how truly she recognizes all his care for her, and the mother should reveal in words how much she values her children's affection, while the child who says to its mother, "Thank you for all your love to me," has rewarded her far beyond knowledge or understanding.

HE FOUND THE DONKEY.

Imbecile Developed a Real Trait of Sherlock Holmes.

The usual group was gathered around "The New York Store" talking of Dick Mullins' lost donkey. Every one had been looking for it, without success since it had strayed out of the pasture lot a day or two before. Jim Thompson, a lanky individual, regarded as more or less of an imbecile by the townsmen, finally spoke up: "I think I could find your donkey." "How can you find him, Jim?" asked the owner, "when the best men in town ain't been able to get a trace of him?" "Waal," rejoined Jim, "I kin try, can't I? How much is it worth to ye?" The owner "allowed" it was worth a dollar. All right," said Jim, and walked away on his search. To the surprise of all, he returned in less than an hour, leading the missing donkey by a rope halter. "Sakes alive!" exclaimed Mullins, as he paid over the dollar, "how in the world did ye find him so quick, Jim?" "Waal," returned Jim, "I thought to myself, now, if I was a jackass where would I go? And so I went there, and he had."
